Hon. J. Elliott, Minister of Public Works, Says Equal Treatment Will Be Given

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—In view of general prosperity throughout Canada, the Government felt that it was justified in proceeding with a somewhat delayed policy of public improvement, particularly in regard to public buildings, which had been allowed, owing to the exigencies of the war and war expenditures, to fall behind the requirements of the country. Hon. J. Elliott, Federal Minister of Public Works, said today in addressing the Laurier Club here.

British Columbia need not think she would be penalized because she had failed to send Liberal representatives to Ottawa, Mr. Elliott said. She would be accorded the same fair treatment as other portions of the country.

Vancouver's prosperity, great as it was, was not exceptional, Mr. Elliott said. All Canada was enjoying the same happy state of affairs, and prosperity was on the increase everywhere.

VICTORIA DRY ARE ORGANIZED

Mr. T. Humphries Elected President of Prohibition Association — Toronto Speakers Give Addresses

ATTORNEY-GENERAL MANSON IS PRAISED

"We are exceedingly indebted to our Attorney-General, the Hon. A. M. Manson, for what he has done for us in seeking to control the liquor trade and to obtain further control. I am convinced that he did all that could be done in a very difficult position," declared Rev. W. W. Peck of Toronto, educational secretary of the newly-formed Dominion Scientific Temperance Committee, at a meeting last evening at the First Baptist Church under the auspices of the Victoria Prohibition Association, reorganized a little earlier. Mr. Peck was one of two hundred representatives of the Prohibition Federation of Canada to address the meeting, and Dr. Dan McLachlan, a prominent member of the organization, gave the address of welcome, giving the audience an outline of the revised methods of propaganda which are being adopted by the organization. Rev. J. R. McIntyre, of Vancouver, British Columbia provincial organizer, who presided at the meeting.

Officers of the Victoria Prohibition Association, which is a branch of the provincial organization in affiliation with the Federation, were elected at a supper meeting preceding the public meeting, being as follows: President, Mr. T. Humphries; vice-president, Mr. W. E. Harper and Dr. Dan McLachlan; treasurer, Mr. D. M. McCall. The executive will consist of two representatives from each of the local churches and kindred organizations. Rev. Henry Knox presided at the business session, when the speaker was Rev. J. R. McIntyre, of Vancouver, who gave figures concerning liquor consumption in the province. There were, he said, sixteen breweries each paying an annual licence of $50; four distilleries, paying $250 each; two salaried warehouses, 276 beer parlors, seventy-two government liquor stores, and seventy-seven licensed clubs. The liquor bill of the province last year was $13,805,000 in the Government liquor stores, and the beer parlors' gross profits were over $3,744,000. In addition there was private importation approximately $4,000,000 worth of liquor.

TO EDUCATE PUBLIC
At the subsequent meeting Mr. McIntyre stated that temperance propaganda of the future would be more educational than legislative. He also expressed the view that if the proposed referendum on having beer parlors in Victoria failed, he felt sure that the public would vote it down.

Mr. Peck, the first of the Toronto speakers, pointed out the importance of liquor in the importation, transportation and exportation of alcoholic liquors rested entirely with the Dominion Government. He stated that the prohibition anywhere in the sense that the United States had it, prohibition in this country affecting the retail sale of liquor only. The liquor could carry on just as before. In Ontario, for instance, seven distilleries and twenty-eight breweries operated even after prohibition in Ontario. Hiram Walker had contributed $188,000 to defeat prohibition in Ontario. But this kind of financing was not the only trouble the prohibitionists encountered; they had to stick to the truth, whereas the truth did not seem to bother some of the opposition.

"I am convinced that, from the standpoint of the moral well-being of the people, that we must do away with the sale of alcoholic liquors. But more than this, if we are going to make any headway in this respect we must organize and move against not only the prohibition of the retail sale in the various provinces but must organize against the manufacture, importation and exportation," declared this speaker. Much foundation work still had to be done, he said, although in the Dominion Federation they had the backing of the various provincial organizations, the social service organizations, the nation-wide churches, the Canadian W.C.T.U., the Loyal Templars, and other bodies. The Roman Catholic Church in Toronto was also giving its support.

THE VOLTADE ACT
"When you cut the head off a chicken you increase its activity, but not its longevity," said Mr. Peck in referring to the success of the Eighteenth Amendment in the United States. The fight against alcohol was better organized and was achieving better success today than ever before. Germany, on purely economic grounds, was pushing prohibition, knowing that it made greater efficiency among the workers, a vital matter for consideration where a nation was competing for the markets of the world. Great Britain, too, was awakening to the economic aspect of the question. Comparison of 1913 and 1926 figures for Great Britain showed that liquor manufacture had dropped forty per cent, and the number of arrests for drunkenness had dropped fifty per cent. Before the war public houses were open seven hours; now only nine. Lloyd George had said during the war that Britain was fighting three enemies—Germany, Austria, and drink, and drink was the greatest of the three. John Bull had come to realize that an increase of facilities for consumption increased consumption of liquor, and so, during the war, public houses round munition factories had been put out of business in order to increase the efficiency of the workmen. Then the outbreak of the breweries had been reduced, and step by step the consumption of alcohol went down. The liquor control board committee of scientists who went into the matter declared alcohol a narcotic drug, not a stimulant, and John Bull began to teach this in the schools. All this should give hope to the prohibitionists.

fore attempting to settle those of Europe.

Whether the unity of the country could be preserved for the future depended largely upon the development of a distinctly Canadian mentality, as distinguished from that of the Americans.

"WE ARE CANADIAN"
"We French-Canadians cannot be imperial in sentiment any more than we can be American," said Mr. Bourassa, and it is our hope and purpose that there shall be a distinctly Canadian nationality on the northern half of this continent, that our country shall become a real nation."

QUALITY OF IMMIGRANTS
Mr. Bourassa considered that the Government should look to the quality of immigrants from other countries, more particularly than to the race or nationality of the immigrant. Every person who comes to this Dominion should be of sound body and mind and should be treated as a human being.

SATISFIED SETTLERS
"Outside of Canadian-born and repatriated immigrants, the best immigration agent we can have is a satisfied settler. The most adverse opinion, however, is who comes here is dissatisfied and discontented, and then writes back home and tells of his regret at coming."

THE SITUATION TODAY
Summing up the situation as he saw it now, Mr. Bourassa said that Canada had to choose between a nationalistic policy or an imperial policy, to retain independence. The French-Canadian attitude was a leaning towards a British form of government, with a strong nationalistic tendency. Also, the newcomers from European countries were to be met with a respect for their form of civilization, and given an opportunity to join the ranks of those whose efforts are towards a Canadian Canada.

MR. BOURASSA FOR UNITED CANADA

INTRODUCES SPEAKER
In introducing Mr. Bourassa to the vice-president of the Men's Canadian Club, said that the distinguished guest had played a prominent and important role in Canadian public affairs, both as the editor of Le Devoir, a Montreal paper, and as an independent journalist. Mr. Bourassa, he said, had made his influence felt in matters of government, and had contributed to national thought. He was noted for his sincerity, candor, eloquence and fearlessness of speech.

AN ECONOMIC POLICY
If Canada was to be a prosperous and independent country, Mr. Bourassa claimed it would have to develop an economic policy which would suit the requirements of the whole as well as those of every part. Canada should seek to adjust rather than develop her industries, which would supplement rather than copy United States methods and products. All countries of the world follow an economic policy which is best suited for them, and Canada should follow suit and not attempt to base its economic policy on the policy of the United States.

A FALSE IMPRESSION
He added that he believed the West was laboring under a false impression in thinking that the United States and Canadian financiers were seeking to secure economic domination over the nation.

The real problem in Canada, he said, was in the recognition of certain fundamental and unchangeable facts which were realities. The first was the nature of our country. One-third of our people are French-speaking and have a different outlook on life from that of their English-speaking neighbors. The rest of French Canada extends beyond Quebec to all of the other provinces of the Dominion, but French-Canadians believed that we should settle our own problems before attempting to settle those of Europe.

Mr. Bourassa affirmed that he was much more attached to the spirit of British institutions than he was to British connections. He was a Canadian first, and a French-Canadian second. He was a Canadian first, and a French-Canadian second. He was a Canadian first, and a French-Canadian second.

touching on the population problem, which he believed was the core of Canada's future development. Mr. Bourassa said he thought the best immigration policy was that inaugurated years ago when God gave to men and women the direction in that respect. He felt that when boys and girls married young and raised families, these were the best immigration families this country had.

French-Canadians claimed that the maintenance of Canadians at home was better than making efforts to bring people from other lands, and then have the task of making them Canadians. Also, Canadians who had gone to the United States and returned should be encouraged to return to the Dominion, for they were acquainted with the traditions and customs of Canada, and would play a notable part in the development and upbuilding of this country.

THE WORST THING THAT COULD HAPPEN
The speaker said that Canada could take here in the way of immigrants from the British Isles, who could settle here, be successful in the pursuits they followed, and become Canadians were welcome.

Mr. Bourassa said that he was much more attached to the spirit of British institutions than he was to British connections. He was a Canadian first, and a French-Canadian second.

tion by the mother that her sons had put on the new clothes.

Then this principle was carried to its logical conclusion at the Peace Conference at Versailles, where all the Dominions and India were represented. The Dominions and India were parties to the Peace Treaty and became members of the League of Nations, where a Canadian Senator, Dandurand, had his hand in presiding at the last conference at Geneva.

"The treaty not only was signed by the Dominion and Indian plenipotentiaries, but was also submitted for approval of the Dominion Parliament. Lloyd George properly said that the Versailles Treaty was the Magna Carta of the Dominions. Afterwards we were represented at Washington during the disarmament conference. Now we have a representative at Washington. Canada has been elected a member of the council of the League of Nations."

QUOTES BOTH
"How can this feeling for the Mother Country be better described than by quoting what General Borden, the Premier of South Africa, said to Sir Robert Borden, our Premier, at Paris: 'I fought against the British, but I am a firm upholder of the Commonwealth. In South Africa we have all the liberty that we could have as an independent nation, and far greater security against external aggression. We have complete powers of self-government. We control the development of our country, and in the affairs of the world we take a place far higher, and render a service more notable and useful than we could obtain or give as a separate nation.'

"And this from a former enemy," Mr. Borden went on. "Then might we be well proud of the fact that we are part and parcel of the British Empire!"

"But we must always remember our own Canadian history. We must remember Wolfe at Quebec, the early Canadian voyageurs, the pioneers and fur traders who peopled not only Eastern Canada, but also the great Northwest. And so far as our own province is concerned, we have history entirely our own. Connected with this we have the Hudson's Bay Company, which is the oldest of our institutions, and from which we must take the Canadian Constitution, laid down by the Fathers of Confederation in Quebec in 1867."

"But, although we are developing internationality, we must never forget that we are still proud to be part of the greatest Empire the world ever knew, from which we have received our undying traditions and from which we must daily develop a real Canadian national spirit."

Mr. Leonard Tait moved the vote of thanks to the speaker, which was conveyed to Mr. Bourassa by Mr. F. C. Elliott, who presided.

The City Temple Band rendered musical selections during the first part of the evening.

Toronto Convention Declares Dr. Shields' Church Not Entitled to Membership in Baptist Union

INTOLERANCE AND ENMITY CHARGED

TORONTO, Oct. 14.—The Baptist Union of Ontario and Quebec today passed the following resolution:

"Resolved that in the opinion of the convention, the conduct and attitude of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, are not in harmony and co-operation with the work and objects of this convention, and that the said church shall cease to be entitled to send delegates to the said convention."

The following resolution had been passed yesterday:

"An organized campaign that creates division and discord and seriously interferes with the work for which this convention exists has been carried on for some time among the churches of the convention."

"Such misrepresentations are made in this connection as tend to destroy the confidence of our people in the board regularly appointed by the convention and in our denominational leaders."

"An organization calling itself the Regular Baptist Missionary and Educational Society of Canada has been formed which carries on work in opposition to or in rivalry with the work of certain boards of the convention and thus diversifies the support of our churches from our convention."

In the opinion of this convention such churches as have by resolution or otherwise identified themselves with such campaign or supported the said organization, should therefore be considered as not being in harmony and co-operation with the work and objects of this convention."

DR. SHIELDS ENDEAVORS
The "campaign of discord" has been going on for some years, and has as its prime movers such clerics as Rev. Dr. T. Shields, of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, and Rev. John Linton and Rev. Clifford Loney, of Hamilton. They and their adherents assert the official status of the convention, the membership of its missionary and educational boards and the staff of McTear's university in Toronto, have become polluted with Modernism.

They seek to displace the conventional executive who, it is claimed, are untrue to the real faith, and to gain control of the various boards which, incidentally, would involve supervision of the disbursement of approximately $250,000 annually.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION

The Irish political situation is anything but a good advertisement for the proportional representative system of voting. The enthusiasts of this method are beginning to view it in a more sobered way and about the best defence they are able to offer, on the basis of the Irish example, is that the result of the latest voting is much the same as it would have been under the British system. There is real opposition to proportional representation growing up in the Free State, an opposition that will be strengthened by late experiences. The late Mr. Kevin O'Higgins, it may be recalled, said that with P.R. "enforced coalition with the dictation of a minority is the rule rather than the exception."

The London Sunday Times regards proportional representation as a dam to those tidal waves of opinion that occasionally sweep over British as they do over American politics. Its operation undoubtedly does detract from the chance that any one party will in itself be able to form a Government. What its supporters claim is that it is mathematically representative of the various schools of political thought, but in being so the Sunday Times says it tends to perpetuate groups and factions and to make Government "a shifting affair of deals and personalities." In other words, it makes for weak governments. Under it minorities become of too great account, and that, in the long run, is not what appeals to mass public opinion. The result of proportional representation can hardly be called democracy.

POLITICAL PROPAGANDA

The Conservative Party of Britain and its political triumphs during recent years form a striking illustration of the need of organization. The party has developed during the course of time a process of educational work which is always expanding; in effect it keeps the public thoroughly informed of its activities and its policies and is constantly building up and consolidating support for the party through educational means. One instance of this is the issuance of 7,800,000 leaflets and pamphlets in connection with the Trade Union Act, and the National Unionist Association during the last general election issued 36,000,000 leaflets and pamphlets and 477,000 posters and cartoons.

The foregoing evidence of activity cannot altogether be regarded as educational, but in addition there is a special education department devised to organize study circles, classes and individual courses. During the winter months there is tuition in most of the constituencies in England and Wales. It is noted, too, in connection with the gathering interest in politics that the Philip Stott College has been attended to an unprecedented extent during the last six months. The development of party organization and educational effort among the Conservatives of Britain has been very marked since 1876, when the activities included only the distribution of 700,000 pamphlets and 400,000 circulars. Latter day party organization realizes that there must be mass education in politics and that it must go far beyond the platform speeches of candidates during elections.

THE FLAG CONTROVERSY

With the opening of another session of the Parliament of the Union of South Africa, the flag controversy will be resumed, but under what conditions it is difficult to say at this time. Mr. L. S. Amery's visit to South Africa may have done something to tone down the asperities of the rival factions. He has appealed for racial peace in an earnest and disinterested way, but it is significant that immediately on top of his appeal General Hertzog took occasion, in a bitterly uncompromising speech, to say that the Government "will not take a single step to make the smallest amendment to the Bill." A dispatch from Capetown in commenting on this statement says: "The Union now seems committed to a racial struggle of a bitterness and severity unprecedented in the history even of this troubled land."

The design of the flag, as now approved by the Government, transposes the positions of the old Transvaal and Free State flags, the latter occupying the second quarter. The shield also differs from that shown in the original Government design, in that the flags of the provinces are now horizontal instead of vertical. It is claimed that the alterations have been made on artistic and heraldic grounds. The only other alteration made as a concession to the opinion of the South Africa Party is the proportion of the Union Jack on the design and this is just under 1-6th of the whole. The new flag is striking only in its contrast of colors. Orange and blue predominate. The shield of which the Union Jack occupies one quarter contains colorings of red, white, blue, green and orange.

FANATICISM THE ENEMY

The impressive—almost impassioned—appeal of the Viceroy of India made on August 29 before a crowded meeting of the combined Indian Legislatures at Simla, to India at large, for peace and religious toleration appears to have met with a mixed reception. Not even the Indians who most revered Lord Irwin's intervention, can ignore the gravity of the situation. Those in the British Empire who viewed sympathetically the inauguration of the Indian Reforms of 1919 have watched with anxiety the growing animosity between Hindus and Moslems. The toll taken by eighteen months of religious and racial riots in India is said to be between 250 and 300 dead and over 2,500 injured. So bitter is this communal strife that the Punjab Khilafat Committee—a body of politically extreme Moslems—is reported to have passed a resolution suspending hostilities against the Government because "the Hindu is now the only enemy."

Here is a problem of absolutely vital importance to the leaders of the Indian Swaraj—Home Rule—movement, for obviously the processes of self-government cannot be extended and developed in a country rent with internal conflict. What response the leaders of the Hindu and Moslem communities will make to Lord Irwin's offer to convene a conference, if invited by them to do so, is as yet uncertain. The fact that past conferences have ended in futility is no argument against a new rapprochement. On thing is certain: That until or unless the inhabitants of the vast sub-continent can appease their religious hatreds all talk of self-government is an idle fantasy. Given such at the present time, the country would quickly become a shambles, with fanaticism as the firebrand and bigotry as the butcher.

NATION-BUILDING IN AUSTRALIA

Forces are at work in Australia to prevent an influx of Southern European immigrants to the Commonwealth. The Returned Soldiers' Conference has passed a resolution in favor of action throughout Australia on the immigration policy, with the specific recommendation that, if suitable immigrants cannot be found within the Empire, then the Federal Government should be asked to turn its attention to Northern Europe and Scandinavia as sources of settlers for the land. The Labor Party Conference has also passed a resolution in favor of sending a protest to the Commonwealth with regard to the "alarming numbers" of foreign immigrants arriving in Australia. It also passed a resolution favoring a more rigid enforcement of the education test and urging unqualified preference for Australian-born and English workmen. Australian sentiment remains in favor of an all-British country inhabited by those who speak the English tongue. The Commonwealth does not want its land peopled with a polyglot population. In this respect it recognizes that true nation-building is a problem in biology.

A lamplighter in Dorchester, Mass., has, of his own volition, been sending out invitations to a Boston tercentenary gathering three years hence. These invitations have been going out steadily for the last four years at the rate of four a day to State and municipal authorities all over the world. No fewer than 7,300 of these have already been invited to attend the Boston celebrations. The affair has come into public prominence by a cablegram from the Governor of Moscow saying he would send a delegation and through the German and Danish Governments making inquiries about the scope of the tercentenary gathering. Mr. Ryan is the progenitor of the invitation idea and maintains he has a perfect right to invite whom he pleases to the "exercises." He does not claim, however, that he will pay the cost of their entertainment. In effect all that he has done is to play a practical joke on the people of Boston, though he takes his self-constituted mission very seriously. He is probably obsessed with the idea of advertising his city.

Words of Wisdom

Usually the greatest boasters are the smallest workers. The deep rivers pay a larger tribute to the sea than shallow brooks, and yet empty themselves with less noise.—Secker.

The very greatest and hardest of hearts has some musical strings in it. But they are tuned differently in every one of us so that the self-same strain, which wakens a thrill of sympathetic melody in one, may leave another quite silent and unresponsive.—James Russell Lowell.

Whether our neglect of the great books of the world comes from our not reading at all, or from an incorrigible habit of reading the little books, it ends in just the same thing. And that thing is ignorance of all the greater literature of the world.—Frederic Harrison.

A contented man is like a good tennis player, who never falters and confounds himself with running eternally after the ball, but stays till it comes to him.—Swift.

AFTER-DINNER SPEECHES

The after-dinner speaker who "sees himself in print" has been for long a bane. Some eminent men have been known to regard the ordeal of the banquet so cynically as to care openly not a jot whether they entertain the company or not. An after-dinner speech to them is a composition dictated in public for the morrow's papers, sometimes laboriously, sometimes from a lifeless script. The question persistently presents itself: Is after-dinner speaking worth the pains attendant? Why profane fine oratory with so gross a preparation? It is a question that probably will not be answered. We can never know whether the speaker will deserve the dinner, or the dinner the speeches. But we know that they may. It is a phenomenon of hope.—London Times.

THOSE PRAIRIE MARINERS!

"We read in The Manitoba Free Press an editorial note on the grounding of a steamship off the Island of Anticosti in the St. Lawrence Channel." The Free Press comments on the fact that the event was allowed to pass without notice, whereas, it adds, if the ship had grounded in the Hudson Bay what a potter the Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal newspapers would have made about it. But, concludes Le Canada, "until The Free Press geography, which places Anticosti in the St. Lawrence Channel, rather wide of the map?"—Le Canada.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

We think it is John Galsworthy, one of the great literary creative artists of the day, who says that the sensitive, imaginative boy who is sent to a public school to be educated is to be pitied, for he is sure to have a hard time. For that matter, all the boys and girls, and all the men and women, too, of Mr. Galsworthy's bountiful and brilliant imagination "have hard times." We doubt whether anybody in real life ever met anybody who had such hard times as the Eustyses, what with their extraordinarily complicated family affairs and their extremely "possessive" dispositions.

As a matter of fact, it is not necessary to send a sensitive boy or girl to school in order to insure that they shall have a hard time. We met a little girl of three or four years of age trudging sturdily along the middle of a street a few mornings ago, and she was having a hard time, or thought she was having a hard time, for she was keeping bitterly.

It is not a pleasant thing to see a little child walking along the middle of the street in these times when there are so many motor cars roaring and tearing over the streets and rushing around the street corners, sometimes with "half-wits" at the wheels. So we guided the little one back to the sidewalk and asked her what was the matter and where she was going so early in the morning. She said she was going to to grandma's and she was going to stay there all day. She had left the sidewalk and taken to the middle of the road because the way to grandma's was infested with strange and terrible animals. There was a cow grazing close to the sidewalk, and every mouthful of grass she cropped and ground in her cavernous mouth sounded like a crushing of tender flesh and grinding of soft bones between the teeth of some great beast of prey. In grandma's house was fullness of joy, but the pathway to it was beset with imaginative lions and other terrible creatures.

The school of "life" is hard and the companions we meet in it are neither very gentle nor extremely considerate in their ways and manners. But everybody must enter it and pass through it. The more sensitive and imaginative the scholar, the harder time he will have and the more eagerly will he look forward to the end of the term and a place of refuge like "granma's house." It is not an easy matter to identify granma in the crowds that throng the streets these days, but the kindly old lady is still one of our social institutions, and probably will survive for a few generations.

There must be something weirdly fascinating in the experience of flying through the air at a tremendous speed and at a dizzy altitude, for death hath no terrors for the victims of the mania. Experience has proved that it is not yet reasonably safe to attempt long flights over the Gulf of waters which divides America from Europe. A gale may be encountered, and the structure of the plane may not be strong enough to resist its fury. An engine may cease to function for a moment, and there is no place where the navigators may descend and rest in security for any considerable length of time.

Philosophers and teachers "tell the world" that nothing of importance is achieved without sacrifice; that experiments must continue until obstacles are overcome and success attained. But the experiments need not necessarily be unjustifiably reckless. After many experiments that were not costly in human life, airplanes have been constructed that are flying in security over all parts of Europe and doing a valuable and remunerative transportation business.

We are told that Henry Ford has built a lot of big and powerful planes that are establishing records for safe and profitable flying in the United States. Lindbergh "took a chance" and flew from America to Europe in a frail machine, but Lindbergh was lucky, and good fortune does not invariably attend deeds of great daring.

There is no mechanical reason why Mr. Ford or someone else should not build machines that are specially suited to meet the conditions encountered when flying over the Atlantic or the Pacific Oceans. The fact is apparent that none of the machines yet available are suited for such long and hazardous trips. The experiments necessary to develop such machines need not be destructive of a score or so of human lives. The unscientific experiments that have been made already have cost that number of lives. Therefore reckless ventures should not be encouraged upon the ground that they are undertaken in the interests of science and progress. They should be discouraged upon the ground that instead of serving useful and scientific purposes they serve no purpose whatever except possibly the undesirable purpose of convincing the average person that anyone who goes up in a flying machine "takes his life in his hands."

LAKE SHAWNIGAN ROAD

It is very gratifying to many, and especially to those who reside on the west side of Lake Shawnigan, to know that good progress is being made on this new road, although it was recently reported to the contrary, and considering the difficulties the roadmakers have had to contend with in getting through the swamp at the south end of the lake, the work done shows a very creditable record and from now on the construction of this road will be rapid. I wish to give credit where credit is due.

I have it from those in authority at the Public Works Department that the road on the west side of Shawnigan Lake is going to be built and my informants are men whose word is their bond. So all those who do not favor the road in question can just take it for granted that this road is going through. British Columbia wants to go ahead and get no setbacks, and new roads opening up the country are the first step to development and progress of British Columbia.

Many retired army men in the Okanagan and others are waiting to come to British Columbia and settle when they are assured that properties can be obtained at reasonable prices in accessible districts, approachable by buggy or car, and not dependent entirely upon railroad transportation. Life is too short to be hemmed in to nowhere.

The Hon. Dr. Tolmie, in one of his recent speeches, remarked that he was a firm believer in raw materials by way of development of British Columbia. May I add that Hon. Dr. Tolmie is also a believer in road development for the opening up of districts in British Columbia. This I can vouch for as I received a letter from him some time ago to that effect. All British Columbia who desire the future prosperity of their adopted country should and will vote (as well as advocate) for all improvements that will advance the development of British Columbia and put her where she ought to be—second to none.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaels

MY THANKS
One left his riches all to me, the gold he held so dear, his home beside the singing sea, his lands both far and near. Oh, he had toiled for long years through to hoard that golden store, and all of joy his dull days knew lay but in grasping more. Fair are the goods his gold will buy and fair the seaside home where, woe to rest the weary eye, green waves and snow-flecked foam. I thank him from a grateful heart, yet to another give the larger part with every day I live. For one his wisdom wisely spent and when he went to rest he left me dowered with content, with cheer and courage blest.

LADY IVEACH WILL RUN AS CANDIDATE

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The new Lady Iveagh, wife of Viscount Eiden (Rupert Edward Guinness, M.P.), who succeeded to the title of Earl of Iveagh on the death of his father a week ago, has decided to seek election in the vacant seat of Southend-on-Sea, which her husband represented from 1918 until last week. She has been an active Conservative worker since her husband, and some time ago succeeded Dame Caroline Bridgeman, wife of the First Lord of the Admiralty, as chairman of the Women's Conservative Association.

Lady Iveagh will be opposed in the by-election in Southend-on-Sea by Hon. Douglas Meston, son and heir of Baron Meston of Agra and Dunotter, Liberal, and it is probable a Labor candidate also will be in the field.

Lady Iveagh conducted a naval recruiting campaign in Canada during the war.

LORD STRATHCONA TAKES ACTIVE PART

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Lord Strathcona has been appointed deputy chairman of the Conservative party here.

Before succeeding to the title of Baron Strathcona on the death of his mother, Baroness Strathcona, in August 1926, Donald Sterling Palmer Howard was Conservative member of the Commons for North Cumberland, 1923-26. He was parliamentary secretary to the First Lord of the Admiralty, Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, 1925-26.

MEXICO ALSO HAS PYRAMIDS

IS DESTINED TO RIVAL EGYPT AND IRAQ AS CENTRE FOR ARCHAEOLOGICAL STUDY

Former Victorian Is Here to Renew Acquaintances With Boyhood Friends

While the public is accustomed to regard Mexico as rich in relics of the Maya civilization in Yucatan, and of the Aztec races which the Spanish conquistadores encountered in the sixteenth century, it is not generally known that buildings many thousands of years older are coming into light under the skilful guidance of American archaeologists in Central Mexico.

Mr. T. S. Gore, well known leader in the British colony in Mexico City, and member of a pioneer Victoria family, is visiting here with Mrs. Gore. He says that within an hour's motor drive of Mexico City have been uncovered pyramids, two of which are not unlike the Egyptian model, and another of a circular base, rising tier upon tier like the traditional tower of Babel.

A great deal of attention has been given to the exploration of ancient Mexico by the Carnegie Foundation, and by a body of scientists operating from Arizona. The estimated age of one of these remarkable piles is about 12,000 years. Mr. Gore says it is remarkable to notice the high measure of artistic skill developed in the paintings and designs with which the faces of these structures are embellished, and which show that an advanced type of civilization had been attained.

Mr. Gore, who has been in Mexico for more than thirty-eight years, is one of the senior members of the British colony, and as he has relaxed the practice of his profession as an architect, has given increasing time to the management of institutions connected with the city. He speaks highly of the climate of the plateau upon which Mexico City stands, and of the pleasant social relations of the foreign colonies in the capital.

TOLL OF FIRE IN B.C. HEAVY

Carelessness Responsible for Great Loss of Life and Property

According to the annual report of the Provincial Fire Marshal there have been 1,834 fires in this province for the year 1926, an increase of 160 over the preceding year. Of this number 952 were in dwellings, causing a loss of $728,418 in property and a loss of life of eight adults and ten children.

Eight hundred and four of the fires were due directly to carelessness, and the remaining were classified as follows: Thirty-eight caused through exposure from some other fire and 110 from unknown causes. It is assumed that a large number of the latter might also be put down to carelessness. So by means of preventable fires, dwelling houses and their contents to the value of over $700,000 were destroyed during the past year. Two of the adults and all of the children lost their lives in these preventable fires.

Here are a few of the principal items which increased the size of the provincial cash heap: Seventy-eight fires caused by carelessness with matches. Two hundred and seventy-one fires from defective heating apparatus. Thirty-six fires from careless handling of gasoline. Two hundred and thirty-one fires by smokers' carelessness. Three hundred and fifty-nine fires by chimney fires, engines, etc. Two hundred and four fires through exposure to other fires. Two hundred and twenty-two fires due to unknown causes.

Total of 1,401 fires in which carelessness was undoubtedly the chief cause thereof.

On being confronted with these figures it is said, "Well, the insurance companies paid." Certainly they paid what their policies called for, but that they only paid seventy-eight per cent of the fire loss in British Columbia. The balance, or $728,253, was a direct loss to the people whose property was destroyed, and a loss in real money.

In view of the above, the Victoria and District Fire Agents' Association asks the co-operation of every citizen to do his part to prevent similar fires by looking around the home, office, factory, garage and every other place, removing hazards.

ADVERTISING BIG BUSINESS FACTOR

Mr. George I. Warren, Publicity Commissioner, Addresses 100 Per Cent Club

The tremendous part played by advertising in modern business was described by Mr. George I. Warren, publicity commissioner for the city of Victoria, in a speech before the 100 Per Cent Club at its weekly luncheon yesterday at the Dominion Hotel.

Competition brings goods into the limelight; advertising helps keep them there and creates and intensifies desire. Competition aims us to greater effort; it always has and always will," Mr. Warren said.

The successful merchant is shrewd enough to seek the public's desire for possession and subordinate his desire to sell what he may possess. His effort is to create desire on the part of the public for what he has to sell and to stimulate competition between owners and users. Competition is not always confined to manufacturing and retail businesses, but is also keen between cities and even in districts of cities.

NOVA SCOTIA PLANS "OIL FROM COAL"

HALIFAX, Oct. 14.—The Inverness coal mines, Glace Bay, have been taken over by the "Coal in Oil" syndicate, it is learned. The plans of the syndicate, it is said, call for the employment of 3,000 men, with a daily payroll of over $20,000, and a capital investment of between six and seven million dollars.

"Coal in Oil" is a syndicate of prominent financial men who propose to manufacture coal and fuel oil and to convert Nova Scotia coal into a "super-fuel."

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and serves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the valuable properties of every known remedy, you could not get as much real healing power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any drugstore 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 10-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or clarified honey, as desired. The result is 10 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and save easily $2.00. Tastes pleasant—children like it—and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and breaks the inflamed membrane so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaraiol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

J. B. WALDRON FOUND GUILTY

Prisoner Is Remanded for Sentence on Possession of Drugs Charge Until End of the Assizes Here

REX VS. D. F. FLYAN TRIAL ON MONDAY

James B. Waldron yesterday was found guilty by an Assize jury here of a charge of being unlawfully in possession of narcotics at the Panama Hotel on August 16, 1927, and was remanded by Mr. Justice Murphy until the end of the Assizes for sentence.

The trial of Rex vs. Waldron opened yesterday morning in the Assize Court, and it was 3:30 p.m. when the defence rested its case. Mr. Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, and Crown Prosecutor Henry C. Hall, K. C., delivered addresses to the jury, and then His Lordship delivered his charge.

The jury retired from the courtroom at 4:55 p.m., and exactly twenty-five minutes later returned with its finding. The jury was comprised of Mr. William Francis Drinkle, foreman, and Messrs. Frederick Charles Cox, Henry Kenyon, John Edward Chipper, George Stanley Eden, Harry F. Norris, David R. Sheret, James Carmichael, Frank Aldridge, Frederick Price Iving, John M. Mutch and William Laurison.

REMAINING TRIAL

The remaining case to be brought to trial at the present Assizes is that of Rex vs. Donald F. Fylan, hearing of which will open in the Court House on Monday morning, at 10:30 o'clock. Fylan will be arraigned on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

The courtroom was well filled with spectators yesterday when James Waldron was placed on trial for being unlawfully in possession of opium, morphine, heroin and cocaine.

DETECTIVE PHIPPS

Marcus Phipps, Victoria detective, told of going to the Panama Hotel, at the lower end of Johnson Street, on the night of August 16, 1927, at 12:25 o'clock. Chief of Police John Fry and Constable McPherson, so search for narcotics. Witness went up the stairs first, and there met two women, Mrs. Lela Roberts, the landlady, and her mother and a taxi driver. The chief and constable followed him into the premises.

Witness said he went to Waldron's room in the hotel, but he was not there. He went to the landlady's court, which adjoined Waldron's room, and found the accused. Witness told Waldron that they were there to search for narcotics. The accused seemed shaky, and told them that although he had used drugs for some considerable years, he was not then using them, having been cured of the habit.

Phipps testified that the chief and he went with Waldron to his room. Waldron sat on the edge of the bed. The chief and himself searched the room for about twenty minutes.

Witness saw a blue coat belonging to Waldron hanging in a cupboard. He put his hand in one of the lower outside pockets and there was a tangle of glass bottles.

MAKES ACCUSATION

"When the tangle was heard, Waldron jumped off the bed, and rushed right over to my elbow, accusing us of planting the narcotics in his coat," Waldron said at the time.

Orders to the value of $50,000, which is estimated, were taken prior to the opening. Some firms declared that they have already sold the year's entire output.

MOTH AND LAVENDER VOGUE

Moths' invasion of the British Isles in greater numbers this year than before has brought a vogue for lavender just when a bumper supply of the fragrant plant made the price low. A new idea is the motor mask of lavender in many forms.

A small version of the grown-up doll is made in flat tube-like sections, stuffed with lavender-dried gerogeite, from a tape. Other dolls with like faces, but with arms and legs of silk wire, have bodies, skirts and hats of lavender-dried gerogeite.

Perhaps the most attractive is a miniature "kewpie" doll, with Dutch cap and trousers of chiffon, and filled with the lavender blossom.

ARCTIC STILL UNSOLVED

Mysteries of the Arctic are still unsolved, declared Dr. R. N. Rudmond Brown, president of the geographical section of the British Association, while speaking in London recently. He declared that existence of an Arctic continent is still based on circumstantial evidence, that Enderby Land, with more than 3,000 miles of hypothetical coast line, has never been searched for since Blacio found it in 1831, and that no ship had even penetrated the western shores of the Weddell Sea. He prophesied that eventually the tide of white settlement will definitely set northward, even to the Arctic Sea.

WAR LEADERS DUBBED FOOLS AND ASSES

LATE SIR HENRY WILSON

Former chief of the general staff, whose dispatches, just published, have been called "fools and asses." The accused, who was the second and final witness for the defence, she stated that she was on the premises when the police arrived to search for narcotics in Waldron's room.

There were twenty-five fully furnished rooms in the hotel, but she said only two permanent boarders, she said. She rented rooms to transients.

"NEVER SAW THEM BEFORE"

Witness was shown in court the photos of narcotics found in Waldron's room, and stated that she had never seen them before.

Mrs. Roberts said that she had known Waldron for seven years, but claimed that he had not been in Victoria very often. She did not keep him, she testified, but admitted that four or five years ago in Vancouver he had supported her.

Mr. Hall inquired whether witness had ever used drugs.

"I have smoked opium, but I have been cured of the habit," she said that she had taken it internally by making medicine of it.

RECEIPT OF EXHIBITS

Oswald Barton, deputy registrar of the Supreme Court and clerk of the peace, swore to the receipt of the four phials of drugs, entered as exhibits in the case, from the city police clerk after Fry took them to him.

Mr. Barton, on instructions from the Deputy Attorney-General, he handed samples to the prosecution for analysis and then resailed the envelope containing the exhibits and placed it back in the vault. Detective Marcus Phipps of the city force and Sgt. R. Owens of the provincial force received the samples for analysis.

Constable Arthur H. Bishop said he took the exhibits from the city police clerk to the clerk of the peace on September 20. To his knowledge there was no seal on the envelope, and it was not closed when he received it from Alfred Halism, city police clerk, he said.

Mr. Talbot, solicitor for the Panama Pacific Railway, Ltd., waited on the city Council last night and asked that body if the Council's letter to the grain company, stating that the city's engineer had advised against the proposed elevator, should be taken as a refusal of the company's proposition.

Mr. Talbot was advised by Mayor Pendray that the firm of C. D. Howe & Company had advised against the proposed elevator, and the firm also advised the city that work should not be started until the plans had been completed. The difficulty is that the plans will not be completed by C. D. Howe & Company before the ninety days are up.

In order to find some way in which to comply with the by-law, the city started before the ninety days, Mr. Howe will be asked to come to Victoria as soon as possible. Mr. Talbot told the Council last night that the company was anxious to start work and was prepared to commence on the foundation with their own funds.

MANILA WANTS TO ENLARGE

Public spirited citizens of Manila have started a Greater Manila movement, and want several towns of the province of Rizal annexed to the city. The plan has been recommended in the annual message of Governor Gilmore of these Philippines, and a bill authorizing the change is now before the Philippine Legislature. The plan also includes the city of Manila and the city of Manila.

There is a strong opposition to the idea, many declaring that the towns should be left to themselves, a spirited battle is expected to be waged by the legislature.

Letter Tells of Wonderful Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Coniston, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and a three weeks' stay in a hospital I was so weak that I was unable to move a chair. For four months I was most frantic with pain and suffering until I thought there was no hope. I had never heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it. I started a second bottle, and to my surprise and joy the pain in my side left me completely and I am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you see I can't be helped in all. I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and have also used the Sanative Wash."—Mrs. L. CITY TO AID WORSTED MILL

Industrial Committee and Solicitor to Draft By-Law to Be Presented After $100,000 Is Raised

MR. JOHN MOORE MEETS COUNCIL

A by-law on the worsted mill project may be voted upon by property holders at the civic elections if the industrial committee of the City Council succeeds in raising $100,000 before the date of the election.

Following a meeting of the City Council in camera last night, Mayor J. Carl Pendray announced that the industrial committee and the city solicitor had been instructed to draft a by-law to submit to the people.

Mr. John Moore, of Bradford, England, who is the present operator of a worsted mill in Bradford, attended the meeting and told the members of the Council the result of his investigations in Canada. The success of a worsted mill here, he said, would be virtually assured and could be made very profitable.

After the Council had heard Mr. Moore and members had asked him questions, the point arose as to the financing of the project.

The industrial committee had previously recommended, and the Council endorsed, that the city guarantee bonds to the extent of $100,000 for this industry. Mayor Pendray pointed out that, while he thought the project was a very good one, he believed that the other $100,000 should be raised first before a by-law was submitted to the people. He thought that it would strengthen the case when submitted.

Mr. Moore was prepared to invest $40,000 in the project, and other business men of this city, whose names were mentioned, had also indicated that they would be willing to invest in the project. The Mayor thought that the by-law could be drafted, endorsed by the Council and then shown to those who would be willing to invest money in the project. Then, when the $100,000 was raised, the by-law could be submitted to the people, and if it passed, the mill would then be constructed. If it was not passed, those who had put up the money and placed it in a trust fund would get the investment back and the project could then be dropped.

It is expected that a draft of the by-law will be submitted to the City Council at its next meeting.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AWARDED

Victoria College Students Receive Prizes at Interesting Annual Ceremony Before Big Audience

ENROLLMENT FORTY PER CENT HIGHER

The annual presentation of scholarships took place yesterday afternoon at Victoria College in the presence of an audience of students, parents and friends who crowded the assembly hall to capacity.

Professor P. H. Elliott, principal of the college, presided, prefacing the ceremony of the presentation of the scholarships with a word of welcome on behalf of the faculty and students to Dr. Willis, superintendent of education; Major Longstaff and representatives of societies granting awards. Prizes meant much more than the mere financial value, for to those who were devoting themselves to the work of education it was concrete evidence that there stood behind them a powerful body of opinion, a matter of great comfort at a time when the very foundations of education were being under examination. Reference was also made to the creditable standing taken last Spring by Victoria College students in third year work in the University of British Columbia, first, third and fourth places in the honors list of seventeen names being won. This was striking proof of the high efficiency of the college under the administration of Dr. Paul, to whom Professor Elliott offered a special word of welcome. The action of the school board in acquiring Victoria College building was also the subject of congratulatory comment.

In conclusion, Professor Elliott introduced the new members of the college staff, Miss Humphrey, of the English department; Mr. Marr, of the department of classics; and Mr. Cope, of the mathematics department. The college enrollment this year, 227, was an increase of forty per cent over last year.

Twelve scholarships in all were presented in the ceremony which followed, these being as follows: Scholarship for French, presented by Hon. Dr. W. C. Nichol. This scholarship is awarded to the first year student taking the highest standing in French and continuing the course in the second year at Victoria College. The winner of the scholarship this year is Miss Marjorie Waites, who obtained the excellent standing of 89.3 per cent. Presented by Dr. Paul.

Turning Point in History of the West

1—Barge carrying the "Countess of Dufferin" on Red River. 2—G. C. Swinbank, locomotive engineer of "Countess of Dufferin." 3—W. Swinbank, fireman on "Countess of Dufferin." 4—"Countess of Dufferin" as she is today resting in a Winnipeg park.

Fifty years ago, Winnipeg church bells were ringing wildly and the few stragglers in the city were screaming with joy. On that day a new and thrilling note was added to the tumult. It was the sound of the first locomotive whistle to shatter the peace and quiet of the little prairie city.

The day marked the occasion of the arrival of the engine now known as the "Countess of Dufferin" brought to Winnipeg in connection with the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. And the event celebrated by the entire population, following the issue of an extra edition of the only daily paper, announcing the coming, was termed "A Historic Happening," one of the greatest importance to the entire Northwest.

The first engine, forerunner of hundreds of others, did not enter Winnipeg mounted on rail. Though steam was up in order that the whistle might swell the chorus of welcome the wheels of the engine rested more or less securely on a barge that was towed up the Red River by the steamer "Selkirk." The barge and steamer were gaily decorated with flags and bunting, and the engine itself was polished and gaily decked with ribbons.

The "Countess," considered half a century ago a paragon of mechanical accomplishment, was due to arrive in Winnipeg early on the morning of October 9, 1877. The "Countess" did not arrive that day, but the next, for the difficulties of navigation with a tow of six barges were too great for speedy progress.

This engine bears the name of the wife of the then Governor-General, Lady Dufferin, who formally christened it at Fisher's Landing, and today she stands in a shiny coat of black paint, decorated with gay flower boxes in the C.P.R. gardens at Winnipeg.

And yet it was only the merest accident that prevented the "Countess of Dufferin" from being permanently relegated to the scrap heap. When her usefulness was over she was sold to the Columbia River Company, and in 1909 she was found in this company's scrap heap by Richard Waugh, a mayor of Winnipeg. The old engine was handed over to the City of Winnipeg by Sir William Mackenzie, thoroughly overhauled in the C.P.R. shops and, in the Spring of 1910, placed in its present location in Whyte Park.

There are fully as many as fifty men in Winnipeg who remember the arrival of the "Countess," and among these is Dr. Charles N. Bell, one of the founders of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, who handled the arrival for the customs department. The iron "Countess" was built by the Baldwin Locomotive Company in 1872, and purchased by the Canadian Pacific Railway for $2,800. She was later sold to the Golden Lumber Company for $1,000, while a modern engine costs in the neighborhood of $70,000.

walls of Peking, and firing should be heard in the city, he continued, there would be no cause for fear, since the Northerners had ample forces to round them up.

Severe fighting has been going on between the Northern forces and the Nationalists in the Province of Honan, but reports here indicate a somewhat more advance of Shantung (Northern) troops along the Lunghai Railway.

City Hall Activities in Brief

OBJECTS TO SMELL
Keeping his word, Ald. Woodward did not attend the meeting of the land committee yesterday afternoon in the City Land Commissioner's office. He refused to attend the meeting if it was held in that office because of the bad odor emanating apparently from drains. The land committee has asked Dr. A. G. P. R. Brown, chairman of the Council, to request the Council at last night's meeting for assistance in getting the drains cleaned.

NEW INDUSTRY
The Daldziel Box Company, Ltd., requested the Council at last night's meeting for assistance in getting the drains cleaned.

PEKING, Oct. 13.—The main Shansi armies, which have been crushed, and scattered bands are still in the field—some within twenty miles of Peking, with Northern forces close on their heels. A spokesman for the Northern alliance stated. This spokesman declared that the Northerners deliberately drew the main Shansi army of 80,000 men almost to Peking, and then sent the Northern army by way of Anchow, toward Tientsin, to cut off their retreat. Most of the Shansi force was forced to abandon the Peking-Hankow Railway and flee westward toward their native province of Shansi.

HEAVY SNOWFALL
The latest message from Chang Hsueh-Liang, son of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, stated that his troops are entering Chienchiang, seventy miles south of Pao-tung, but, contrary to previous reports, the Shansi forces still hold the important railway station of Chienchiang, near Chienchiang. The Northern spokesman said that the fall of this latter place was expected hourly. Operations on the Northern front have been delayed unexpectedly by an early heavy snowfall, but fighting has been going on at Tsao-kow. The Northerners advancing westward and causing the Shansi army to evacuate the important trading city of Kalgan.

TO CAPTURE PEKING
The Shansi leaders evidently had made elaborate plans to capture Peking, the spokesman said. They were to be divided into two main armies, two divisions were detailed to advance along the mountain roads and cut communications. The plan failed, because of the rapidity of the Northern victory against the main Shansi armies. Several of these raids have been stopped, notably in the western hills, twenty miles from Peking, where one Shansi regiment was disarmed. A stronger Shansi force took Choochow, only thirty-eight miles south of Peking, but were driven out by Northern troops.

ROUNDING UP IRREGULARS
The Northern spokesman said that similar raids near Peking were expected, but that the raiders were unable to keep in contact with each other and were more like bandits than regular troops. The Northern Alliance, he said, consequently did not regard the movements seriously. Even if some of these irregulars should appear near the city, they would be easily dealt with.

SOCIETY ASKS NEW EDITION

Will Request Department of Marine and Fisheries to Transfer Publication of "B.C. Coast Names"

SAYS SYSTEMATIC REVISION NEEDED

A resolution was passed at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Historical Association last evening regarding the book, "British Columbia Coast Names," by the late Captain John T. Walbran, master mariner, whose work was published in 1909 by order of the Honorable L. P. Brodeur, minister of marine and fisheries for the Geographic Board of Canada. Your committee received a signed copy on March 23, 1912, and that date marks the beginning of its search into the history of the Pacific Station and associated subjects. Captain Walbran died on March 31, 1913, and even at that early date the book was out of print and very few copies were obtainable. Just before his death the Department of Marine and Fisheries wrote to him stating the office had been sold inadvertently, and asking him to get a copy to replace the same. This the Captain was unable to do. The late author several times expressed his desire that your committee should undertake the editing of a future edition of "British Columbia Coast Names." Each year there are requests for copies of this instructive book and requests have been made to the Department at Ottawa for a reprint.

The committee submits that when deciding on making a reprint or similar action, it is advisable to look ahead. This is a book for which there will always be a small but steady demand, especially on the Pacific Coast, and at the same time additions and corrections will be necessary in each edition. Therefore, it is suggested that our Association, at its annual meeting, pass a resolution instructing the Council to arrange with the Department of Marine and Fisheries to transfer the publication of "British Columbia Coast Names" to the Association under the Societies Act, on the Association undertaking to issue fresh editions from time to time. The editing of such a book is too heavy a work for one person, so that it stands to reason this work should be placed in the hands of the publication committee of the Association.

Bride-To-Be Guest of Honor At a "Shower"

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. F. Harris, 504 Dupplin Road, on Wednesday, the occasion being a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss A. Hamilton, whose wedding will take place shortly. A decorated wagon filled with pretty and useful presents was drawn into the room by little Joan Appleton and presented to the guest. The rooms were pretty in their color scheme of white and mauve streamers, chrysanthemums and asters. Among those present were Mrs. Appleton, Mrs. G. Smith, Mrs. P. P. Harris, Mrs. Parkinson, Mrs. Piller, Mrs. Gullford, Mrs. Wilcocks, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. S. S. Harris, Mrs. Gore, Mrs. Muckle, Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. D. Taylor, Mrs. J. Harris, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Roskelly, Mrs. E. E. Harris, Mrs. F. Taylor, Mrs. F. Harris, Mrs. A. Hamilton, Mrs. R. E. Harris, Mrs. E. H. Harris, Mr. G. F. Harris, Mr. R. Taylor, Mr. Bell, Mr. W. Smith, Master G. D. Taylor. After music and games the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Purple Star Lodge
Under the auspices of Victoria Purple Star Lodge 104, L.O.B.A., Mrs. Joyce, 1036 Caledonia Avenue, recently entertained about fifty members and their friends at a miscellaneous shower in aid of the coming bazaar. After inspecting the numerous gifts, music and dancing were enjoyed. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Kendall, Miss White and Mrs. Hayes, accompanied by Miss L. White. Miss E. Kendall gave a pianoforte solo, and little Grace Hayes delighted the guests with her dancing. Mr. Merryfield, the magician, also gave a performance. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the hostess and all who helped to make the evening a success.

Farewell Party
Mrs. G. P. Clarke was a guest of honor at a farewell tea given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. E. T. W. Pearce and her daughter, Mrs. F. E. Better Light
THE many good points of the new inside frosted Laco Mazda Lamps are immediately apparent. Women especially will recognize them instantly. Smooth on the outside, they are easy to clean; the volume of light is the same as that of the clear-glass lamp, and much more than the old-style outside frosted.

Women's Clubs and Societies

Chemainus W.B.A.
The members of Review No. 19, W.B.A., held a most profitable and enjoyable tea and apron sale on Monday afternoon. The various booths all did a very brisk business, ready buyers being on hand to purchase from the splendid assortment of useful and fancy aprons. Winners of the apron drawing were Patsy English, Mrs. Isa Robertson and Mrs. T. Robertson. Mrs. T. Robertson also held the lucky tea ticket. Mrs. Cave won the candy. The apron committee included Mesdames D. Murray, English, Halberg, F. Work, Beaman and Miss Edith Payne. Tea tickets were sold by Mrs. Jacobson. The candy stall was in charge of Mrs. E. E. Harris, Mrs. Jansch and Miss May Diplock. The daintily appointed tea tables were attended by Mesdames Cline, J. Cook, H. Smith, C. A. Steele, Stevens and McGregor. The total proceeds of the afternoon amounted to the gratifying sum of $90.00.

CHAPTER XVI

"What's the use wastin' any time listenin' to more of the man's lies?" demanded Sheriff Edwards who had finally managed to get the handcuffs open and was fretful at the delay of getting the onto Jaggars' wrists. "I ain't goin' to believe his trumped-up yarn an' that ends it. He admits it's his gun that killed Strawn; that's enough for me. If this three-fingered man had any thing to do with it, him an' Jaggars was in cahoots. The only thing I want to hear is a confession."

"Let the man talk," Jasper Baskerville insisted quietly, and gave Jaggars a nod of encouragement.

The terror-stricken butler tried to calm himself and only partly succeeded. Except for the support of the wall, against which he leaned, he might have collapsed to the floor.

"There—there ain't much more that I can tell you," he whispered hoarsely. "I can't tell you what I don't know. I don't know who took the gun. I'd bought it two years ago when I first got the job as caretaker here; I—I'd forgot about scratchin' my initials on it."

"When the shot was fired I didn't know it was my gun that the murder had been done with. When I looked in the door an' saw Mr. Strawn all stretched out with the blood on the floor, I was scared. I—I saw the gun lyin' on the floor. It—it looked like mine but I wasn't sure until—I went back up to my room and found it gone from the drawer where I'd been keepin' it. Then—I was scared, mighty scared. I was watchin' for a chance to take it an' hide it, but I didn't get the chance. That—that's all."

His voice came to a dull, flat halt as he realized that the evidence was against him and that there was no hope.

"Lately story, ain't it?" sneered the sheriff, and he made a move as if to snap on the handcuffs, but Baskerville—wounded—asked other questions and stayed him with a lift of a hand.

"I don't see how Jaggars would have had a chance to do it," spoke up Bob Dolliver. "As I told you downstairs I don't see how it would be possible for Jaggars to have fired the shot and gotten back to the third floor without my having seen him."

"If I was you," said the sheriff meaningly, "I wouldn't be too blame anxious about gettin' Jaggars off. You got some little explainin' to do your own self."

"Jaggars," demanded Baskerville, "didn't you turn this gun of yours over to the three-fingered man?"

"Heaven help me, no!" cried the butler. "I—I've told you the truth about the three-fingered man, how he slipped me a tenner to let him have a peep inside the house while Mr. Strawn was gone to the village. I didn't see him before, but I—I don't see him since. That's the truth."

"You've done time, eh, Jaggars?" the butler asked and his face sagged. "I see that I hit it right. What were you sent up for, Jaggars?"

"I—I don't know," he babbled in weary denial. "I didn't kill him," he insisted dully, "but nothing I say seems to make any difference."

"See here, Sheriff," said Paul, "I want to see the slayer punished, but I don't want an injustice done. Unless you're sure of your ground—"

"Oh, I'm sure enough," broke in Edwards, "even if we did find Dolliver's finger-prints on the gun." He looked grimly at Bob. "It's a mighty lucky thing for you, young feller, that I solved this case as quickly as I did. You don't know how near came to havin' the handcuffs on you."

"I knew there was something crooked about that butler," said Mrs. Westbury Eastman. "I knew it last night when he lied to Mr. Strawn about the three-fingered man."

"Wait!" urged Paul Grimshaw. "What about the three-fingered man, Sheriff? What about the door that Paul heard alarm?"

"Huh," grunted the sheriff, "I allow that we'll hear all there is to know about the three-fingered man—when Jaggars comes through with the truth. Come on, Jaggars; we'll be startin' for jail."

And without further ado, the county officer seized his prisoner by the arm and urged him toward the door. A moment later the motor of the sheriff's battered flivver hummed into life and the car sped down the drive toward the jail at Shoreham.

Baskerville was aware that Tommy wanted his attention, the latter jerking his head toward the stairs, but Paul Grimshaw stopped him.

"Mr. Baskerville," he said earnestly, "you are a detective and I want to know if you're satisfied with the sheriff's action."

"I'm not sure about that, Grimshaw," J.B. answered. "I might best answer that in a general way by saying that I am never satisfied with a case until the facts are complete beyond any shadow of a doubt. I don't know whether the mystery is solved or if it's just begun."

"Did you find the plates?"

"No, there missing from the desk in your uncle's study where they were under lock and key. The drawer was found locked but the plates and the banknote paper gone; I shall stay on the job until I have found them."

"Until you have tried to find them?"

"Until I have found them," repeated J.B. with quiet insistence. "If any person in the house took them they can not be far and I shall find them."

"If any person in the house took them?" questioned Paul. "That sounds rather absurd, don't you think?"

think? What would anyone expect a criminal want with the counterfeiting plates?"

J.B. smiled enigmatically. "I can conceive circumstances under which they might," he answered, "for that matter, Jaggars is admittedly a criminal, the possession of two finished plates for counterfeiting fifty-dollar bills might be considered a severe temptation to a man of criminal tendencies. And then again they might have been taken for a reason other than counterfeiting."

"But what other reasons could there be?" asked Paul with an inquiring lift of the eyebrows.

"Well, counterfeiting of a sort at that," answered Baskerville. "The counterfeiting of evidence. But I mustn't waste any time spinning theories. Mr. Grimshaw, facts are what we want—facts." Tommy Oliver was signalling to him impatiently from the third step of the stairs.

FEVER SPREADS THROUGH CITY

Press Club Bill Virus Enters Blood of Populace and Scourge Is Epidemic

The fever is spreading. It is rapidly assuming epidemic proportions.

Despite the efforts of the city medical health officer, the Sanitch Health Centre, and the frenzied co-operation of both Provincial and Federal experts, the situation in Victoria is growing serious.

Everybody wants to go to the Press Club ball. The virus has entered the veins of the whole body politic and there is no anti-toxin on hand with which to stem it. The whole of North America is being scourged for the needed serum, by airplane, by canoe and dog train, radio and wireless telephony—but it is hardly possible that help will arrive in time.

The ten thousand doctors of the city, in mass consultation yesterday came to the conclusion that the crisis would be reached at 9 o'clock on the night of Friday, October 28, the date of the Press Club ball at the Empress, and that, in the meantime, nothing could be done save to administer oxygen to the patients.

Anxious to do all within its power to avert a catastrophe, catalysed or whatnot, the Press Club waited upon Attorney-General Manson, Mayor Pendray and Dr. Clem Davies with an offer to call off the ball. The suggestion was scouted, flouted and condemned, on the theory that the cure would be worse than the disease.

So there is nothing for it but to see it through.

The disease, which has visited Victoria before and seems peculiar to this city, manifests itself in most alarming symptoms. In its incipency there is a notable rise in the patient's temperature. This is followed by extreme nervousness with twitching of the toes and Charles-tonian spasms, accelerated breathing, extraordinary brightness of the eyes and violent impatience. At the height of the fever the patient usually becomes delirious, sometimes dangerously so, when he is apt to tear the covers, leap from the bed and shout:

"What orchestra are they having? Let's go" and the like.

The treatment varies, but the patient must be given plenty of fresh air and absolute quiet. In the violent stages he may be controlled with a strait jacket, a croquet mallet or a potato masher.

British Public Schools

Preparations for the annual ball of the British Public Schools Club, which will be held at the Alexandra House on October 28, are well under way and the demand for tickets is reported to be brisk. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who is a member of the club and Miss MacKenzie have signed their intention of being present. Members who wish tickets reserved for them are urged to send in their applications at once, as the number of tickets is limited to three hundred. Up to and including Wednesday, October 19, one double ticket or two single tickets will be issued to members only. After that date the extra tickets required by members for their friends will be allotted in the order in which they have been received. For those who do not desire arrangements have been made for cards, and those who wish to play bridge are asked to make up their four beforehand and to notify the secretary that they wish to have a table reserved. A five-piece orchestra has been engaged and dancing will be from 9 to 2 a.m. Tickets may be obtained from the secretary, Mr. D. B. McLaren, or from any member of the entertainment committee: Mr. C. G. Cooper, 469 Monterey Avenue; Mr. W. Downes, 942 Island Road; Mr. R. W. Freeman, 1023 Davis Street; or Captain Laybourn, 2965 Oak Bay Avenue. No tickets will be sold at the door on the night of the ball.

In three months more than 1,000 laborers have emigrated from Ilocaas Norte, P.I., to Hawaii.

Brilliant Canadian Violinists Play at Centennial Church

One of the most interesting musical events for some seasons is the appearance of the two brilliant Canadian violinists, Eleanor Agnew and Margaret Wilson, who will give a violin recital at the Centennial Church on Tuesday, October 25. The visit of these two young gifted players has been brought about by a prominent member of the church and Concert Manager George J. Dyke, the latter of whom says the programme given by these artists is of the highest standard and unique in the fact of, their playing together some duets, including no less than the stupendous Bach double concerto in D minor, seldom heard on the concert platform. An added feature of the evening's musical treat is the participation of the eminent English organist, Mr. Richards, now in the city, who has consented to play three organ numbers during the programme. Tickets are now on sale at Fletcher Bros., and included in these are special tickets for students, schools, colleges, universities, etc. Further announcements are to be made.

Life Underwriters Executive Elected

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 14.—Julian B. Myrick, of New York, was elected president of the National Association of Life Underwriters, at the final session today of the annual convention here.

Detroit has been selected as the 1928 convention city.

Other officers elected are: Chester O. Fisher, St. Louis; C. C. Day, Oklahoma City; W. W. Wines, Denver; and John C. McKay, Vancouver, vice presidents; J. E. Leon Bragg, Philadelphia; secretary, and Charles P. Foehl, New York, treasurer.

A cablegram was recently sent around the world in eight minutes.

DOMINION Fur coats, which have caused discussions in so many otherwise happy American families, are the piece de resistance of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new film comedy, "Adam and Evil," showing at the Dominion Theatre for the last times today. A wife's desire for a new fur coat starts the story off, but it is a chorus girl's demand for one that precipitates most of the startling comical situations. Low Cody and Alleen Pringle are co-starred in this production.

States, but also his friends engaged in building it. With a splendid cast, including Jason Roberts, Virginia Brown Faire, Tom Santachi, Nanette, Dave Morris, Theodore Lorch, Ben Walker and Wilfred North, Rinty is said to depict the most sympathetic and thrilling role of his career. The story deals with the construction of a great dam and desert irrigation project.

CAPITOL Although they are THEATRE among the original dozen movie stars, Constance Talmadge and Bryant Washburn appear together for the first time in "Breakfast at Sunrise," starring Miss Talmadge, showing at the Capitol Theatre today for the last times. The two players have known each other for twelve years, ever since Constance as a child played bits at the old Vitagraph studio, but they have never had the opportunity of playing in the same picture until now. The stage presentation for today includes Godfrey and Robinson, two colored fools, in a dramatic burlesque entitled "Spaghetti al la Mode"; Doris Barrington, a colorful soprano in song selections, and Jean Guaid, the wonder danseuse in a dainty exhibition of Scottish and Irish folk dances. These attractions will be offered three times today at 4, 6:30 and 9 p.m. in order to accommodate the large crowds attending.

ments elsewhere along Broadway. The heroic, unending struggle of primitive man for survival against the elemental might and terror of the jungle, the incomparably beautiful spring of the tiger, the ecstatic dance of hundreds of wild elephants that leave whole villages matchwood in their wake—these are the materials of what, for once, may truly be called a screen epic in the highest sense of the phrase. LABOR MEASURES TESTED IN COURT

Duncan Magistrate Makes Important Ruling Interpreting Provincial Legislation

Important rulings regarding the enforcement of labor legislation in British Columbia were made by Magistrate in Scotland, Douglas in Duncan last Thursday.

Magistrate Douglas dismissed a series of four charges brought by the Provincial Labor Department against the Mayo Lumber Company, a large Hindu concern operating near Duncan. The legislation involved comprised the new Minimum Wage Act, the Semi-Monthly Payment of Wages Act and the Hours of Work or Eight-Hour Day Act.

The interpretation of the Eight-Hour Day Act in the Duncan Court, in brief, is that the eight-hour day need not be observed in an industrial plant where employees are needed to work overtime to keep machinery in first-class shape to prevent real or threatened accidents.

The Labor Department charged in one case that an employee of the company had not been paid twice a month in accordance with the terms of the Semi-Monthly Payment of Wages Act. The employees in question, however, swore that he had been paid twice monthly and this charge was dismissed.

The department also alleged that the company had failed to keep records of the pay of a certain employee. The department's prosecution by showing that the Minimum Wage Act applies only to adult male workers.

In a fourth case, under which the company was charged with failure to produce records when required to do so by the Labor Department, the defence challenged the authority of the official who had asked for the production of these papers. The official's authority had not been proved and this charge, too, collapsed.

The Labor Department has not yet decided whether an appeal will be taken on some of the charges.

Mr. Gordon Sloan, of Vancouver, acted for the defence, and Mr. Norman Whitaker, of Victoria, for the prosecution.

CITY TEMPLE TO HOLD BIG FAIR

Complete Circus Will Be One of Attractions To Open on November 30

Plans have been completed by members of the City Temple for a great Christmas fancy fair and circus to be held at the Armories on November 30 and December 1, 2 and 3. Many of the features successful in a similar function held by this organization last Spring will be incorporated in the Fall fair and some new attractions will be in the nature of added entertainment for the visitors and their children.

Without any additional payment in the hall itself, except the admission fee at the door, there will be provided for the patrons a complete circus with trained horses, ponies, bears, monkeys, dogs, acrobats, trapeze artists and clowns. Due to the great expense necessarily created by the engagement of this feature, a slightly higher admission rate will be asked for this year.

Arrangements are being made further for exhibitions of fancy dancing by scores of little girls and young misses, an event which made the fair so attractive last Spring. Punch and Judy shows will be on the programme in the afternoons and evenings. Something new in the way of fortune telling will be introduced through the committee's plan of creating "Gypsy Land," half of the Armories gallery being arranged into a Gypsy encampment.

Hundreds of City Temple ladies are busy preparing articles of a Christmas character suitable for presents; also plum puddings, fancy pastry and home cooking.

There will be many booths in which will be displayed fancywork of all kinds, besides women's and children's apparel. The fair will be opened on respective days by Mayor

A Word About a Mighty Picture

CHANG is a picture that you can mark down on your calendar to be sure to see; it will appeal to children as well as adults, and go down in history as one of the finest adventure pictures ever made—bar none! It contains, among other virtues, the most thrilling scene in photoplay history—the moment wherein a maddened herd of stampeding elephants plunge headlong through a Siamese village. CHANG contains more genuine thrills than are provided by a dozen ordinary melodramas. In fact, the whole picture is nothing less than astonishing. CHANG is one of the great pictures of the year and it will be recorded as one of the great pictures of all time. I sincerely trust that you will not miss the opportunity of seeing this marvelous attraction Monday at the Dominion.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—Settlement of a wage dispute between engineers and the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railways, whereby men received an increase of five per cent in salaries, was effected this morning.

APPEAL ASKED FOR ON MINIMUM WAGE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—Involving about $9,000 a month and concerning 1,450 logging operators and 291 sawmill owners in British Columbia, a judgment of the Court of Appeal upholding payment of a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour to a cook in a logging camp, is to be appealed to the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

will be made to the Privy Council by counsel for the appellants, Robert Allen and Frederick Thraher, as soon as the papers can be prepared. The Court of Appeal, following its judgment awarding Cecil Compston, cook, $150 for wages due on a basis of 40 cents an hour, refused Messrs. Allen and Thraher leave to appeal. The case will be heard by the Privy Council this year. Spain's trade with France continues to grow.

Jack Delaney Is Given Decision Over Renault

Canadian Advances Step in Tex Rickard's Elimination Series in Campaign to Determine Contender for Shot at Tunney

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Jack Delaney, retired champion of the light heavyweights, pounded out a close decision over Jack Renault in a ten-round feature match at Madison Square tonight. The fight officially opened Tex Rickard's campaign to determine the next logical contender for a shot at Gene Tunney's title.

Delaney, at 177 pounds, conceded nineteen and one-half pounds to his fellow Canadian and handed him a solid trouncing after being on the floor for less than time in the second round. A solid right to the head pulled the retired king of the light heavyweights, but he was not badly hurt and fought back viciously.

JACK DELANEY

A vicious right uppercut, as Renault backed out of a clinch in the fourth, caught the former Canadian mounted policeman squarely on the nose and started a flow of blood that continued for several rounds. The nose appeared to have been broken and was split badly along the ridge.

DELANEY TOO CLEVER
In the closing rounds Renault redoubled his efforts to smash out a victory through pounding at Delaney's body. Jack was too clever, however, and the continual clinching that followed Renault's style of attack brought rounds of whole-hearted bores from the 16,236 fans

HUNTERS throughout Vancouver Island will be allowed to start their annual barrage on pheasants and ducks today. Pheasants, cock birds only; ducks, Wilson snipe and coots are in season today on the island and other parts of the province. Quail will not become lawful game until November 1.

The bag limit on pheasants is six in one day and twenty-five for the season; on ducks, a daily bag limit of twenty, with a total bag limit of 150; on Wilson snipe, twenty-five in one day and 150 for the season; on coots, twenty-five in one day and 150 for the season.

MANDELL IN BAD FOR NOT BOXING

Lightweight Champ Faces Suspension From National Boxing Association—Miller After Walker

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The National Boxing Association of the United States is planning to suspend Sammy Mandell, New York, as world's lightweight champion, it is learned from Thomas E. Donohue, president of the association. Failure to defend his crown is the reason.

The association represents a membership from eighteen states and a total of twenty-four centres where legalized boxing is conducted. The association will meet in Toledo next week to take action on Mandell's case. The champion gained his title by defeating Rocky Kanas last year and has been practically idle since. He defeated Phil McGraw, of Detroit, on July 16.

A protest will be taken to the Toledo meeting by Walk Miller, manager of Tiger Flowers, over the refusal of Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, to give Flowers a return title match as was promised.

McLaughlin Elected Head of Jockey Club

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The election of Major Frederic McLaughlin, Chicago sportsman, as president of the American National Jockey Club, was announced today by the directors of the new Arlington Heights track. Major McLaughlin, the husband of the former Irene Castle, also is head of the Black Hawks, the Chicago team in the National Hockey League.

Hunter's Left Arm Is Uppermost Thought

By SOL METZGER
Willie Hunter, one of the leading professionals on the Pacific Coast and a former British amateur champion who had the satisfaction of taking Bobby Jones' scalp at the United States amateur in St. Louis, plays a beautiful left shot. And he says he does it with one thought in mind—the left arm.

The first thing Hunter is careful about is his grip. He places the left hand well over the shaft, just far enough so he can see the knuckles. The "V" of this hand points to his right shoulder. Then he can swing the club with speed and ease.

Another point he makes about swinging is to keep the left arm close to the left side throughout, else it will act independent of the hips and shoulders and lose both power and accuracy. Slicing results. Although Hunter depends entirely on his left arm during the swing, he does not let it become rigid. A rigid arm would mean a rigid wrist and prevent wrist action at the top and at contact. Hunter gets his left wrist under the club at the top, a common method of star players which some golf writers state is wrong. Possibly this is so, but the records prove the contrary to be true.

Hunter's claim is that if you think of what the left arm is to do, the right will take care of itself. If anyone can simplify the problems of golf in this way and still gain results like Willie Hunter, he is conferring a boon to the rank and file

BAN JOHNSON PREPARES TO QUIT OFFICE

Calls Meeting of American League Directors for Monday, at Which Time Resignation Is Expected

NO SUCCESSOR HAS BEEN NAMED SO FAR

But Baseball Writers Are Almost Unanimous in Their Guess That It Will Be Cleveland Club Head

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—"His house in order," Ban Johnson, stormy petrel of organized baseball, is ready to turn over the keys of his twenty-seven-year-old office of president of the American League to Monday, or fifteen days before he had originally planned.

Johnson gave no reason for his decision to speed up his resignation, his parting message dwelling on the future of baseball. On Monday the board of directors of the league—Frank J. Navin, of Detroit; Clark Griffith, of Washington; Phil Ball, of St. Louis; and Ben Shibe, of Philadelphia—will meet with Johnson at his call, to receive his formal resignation, to look over his records and possibly to choose his successor.

BARNARD MAY CHOOSE
While no announcement of the probable candidates has been made, baseball writers are almost unanimous in their guess that it will be E. S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland Club.

"I am turning over the office in such shape that a child could read its history," President Johnson said, and not once was there a word of his own future. He will have no trouble, I hope my successor will be a strong man for the good of the league. Without one, the league can easily go on the rocks. Factions form in all groups, and one man must dominate all factions, and have real authority. A rubber-stamp president will be a mistake. He must rule with an iron hand without regard for friendship or factions."

He also warned that the game "must be kept free from taint, away from gambling and syndicating."

Intermediate Rugby Season Opens Today

Four intermediate Rugby fifteens will swing into action today in the opening matches of the season. University School will battle with the 16th Canadian Scottish at University School grounds, while Normal School will meet Victoria College at Cranmore Road. Games will start at 2 p.m.

The Canadian Scottish will line up as follows: R. Knight, P. Turgoose, B. Kinsman, W. Gelling, Tony Farrer, J. Gann, J. Spence, J. Rowland, C. Gates, E. Sturric, J. Healey, C. Hobson, B. Killick, E. Young Evans, Reserves: W. Patterson, C. Burgess and Davis. All players to be at the grounds at 2:30 o'clock.

American Buys Half-Brother to Call Boy For Sum of $60,000

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 14.—Comedienne, a colt which is a half-brother to Call Boy, winner of this year's Derby and which was owned by the late Frank Curzon, theatrical manager, was sold here today to a purchaser in behalf of an unnamed American for 12,000 guineas (about $60,000).

LOCKHART BREAKS EIGHT RECORDS

American Racing Driver Shatters World's Mark on Rockingham Speedway

SALEM, N.H., Oct. 14.—Eight new non-competitive records were broken today by Frank Lockhart, racing driver, on the board track of the Rockingham speedway here. The tests were under the supervision of the A.A.A.

In each case Lockhart bettered the time made by Phil Rader, who set the old records at Sheepshead Bay, July 28, 1917. He drove a car equipped with a 900 cubic inch engine, while Lockhart's engine was the modern 91 cubic type. The records were for the quarter-mile, half-mile, and one, two, three, four and ten-mile distances. For the quarter, Lockhart's time was 6.73 seconds to Rader's 6.91 seconds.

New and old records for the distances are: Half-mile, 13.33 seconds and 13.94 seconds; mile, 28.81 seconds and 28.76 seconds; two miles, 53.45 seconds and 57.81 seconds; three miles, 1:19.65 and 1:23.61; four miles, 1:46.74 and 1:53.75; five miles, 2:19.53 and 2:24.65; ten miles, 4:32.77 and 4:45.88.

BRITISH COMPIL FOOTBALL RECORD

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The British Rugby football team recently returned from Argentina. They played nine matches, winning all of them, and not once was there a word of their own future. He will have no trouble, I hope my successor will be a strong man for the good of the league. Without one, the league can easily go on the rocks. Factions form in all groups, and one man must dominate all factions, and have real authority. A rubber-stamp president will be a mistake. He must rule with an iron hand without regard for friendship or factions."

He also warned that the game "must be kept free from taint, away from gambling and syndicating."

Portland Ball Fan Gets $3,000 Damages

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 14.—George Curtis won a verdict of $3,000 against the Portland Baseball club today in his damage suit for injuries suffered when hit by a foul ball in the stand of the local park. The ball struck Curtis on the right side of the nose below the eye, breaking the nose and injuring the jaw. The mishap occurred in May, 1925.

The ball club contended that in "ing in an unprotected part of the grandstand, a spectator assumes the risk of being hit, but the jury took a different view.

Another Clip Would Have Cut Him Down

UNNECESSARY ROUGH TACKLING, CUPPING, ETC. WERE PART OF THE GAME IN THE OLD DAYS

IN THOSE MERRY OLD DAYS EVERYTHING WAS ALLOWED—INCLUDING MAYHEM, GOUGING, KNEEING, KICKING, ETC.

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)
We hear a good deal of talk these days about the football game used to be in the old days of mass plays, hurdling, dragging, kneeing and the like before the forward pass "softened up" the game, but the fellows who played the game then were hardy chaps and they took the hard knocks with good humor.

Some of that spirit still holds over, judging from this story I heard about the Army-Notre Dame game of 1915.

Charlie Bachman, guard on the Notre Dame team of that year and now coach of the Kansas Aggies, had been chasing with more or less success, Jack McEwan, centre of the West Point eleven and now coach at the University of Oregon. This was the day before clipping had been ruled out. In the second quarter McEwan turned to Bachman and said: "Hey, Charlie, I've got two bad ankles now. One more clip from you and I won't be able to play the Navy game. Lay off."

JACK DENIES PEACE MOVE

But Kearns Prepares to Drop Suit Against Dempsey—Boxing Observers Skeptical of Reunion

NO TRUTH IN RUMOR EX-CHAMPION SAYS

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Despite the assertion in Salt Lake City of Jack Dempsey that he "wouldn't consider" proposals for peace with his ex-manager, Jack Kearns, other developments indicated definite moves are under way to patch up the differences between the pair, looking toward the eventual resumption of Dempsey's management by Kearns.

Kearns here authorized the announcement by his associate, Teddy Hayes, that he had agreed to indefinite postponement in Trenton, N.J., of an action to recover $333,333.33 from Dempsey under the terms of their former contract. According to Hayes, Kearns went to Trenton today with his lawyers to effect this postponement, but Arthur P. Driscoll, counsel for Dempsey, declined to admit that "stranger things have happened in the boxing racket." Hayes, however, asserted

Most boxing observers were skeptical of any agreement which would put Dempsey again under the management of the man who plotted him to the championship but also were willing to admit that "stranger things have happened in the boxing racket." Hayes, however, asserted definite moves were under way, first to settle legal differences and then bring the two together, Dempsey proposed a copyrighted story published by The New York Daily News this morning.

WANTS MORE TIME
According to Hayes, Dempsey wants further time to consider the proposal. Kearns, Hayes said, plans to leave for the Pacific Coast in about ten days to meet Dempsey.

Reports of the Dempsey-Kearns affair will be current here this summer, but all hands turned thumbs down at the time through the initiative of Tex Rickard, Dempsey's preparator for the Shumpey and Tunney fights were put in the hands of Leo P. Flynn, veteran manager, but it is generally understood by boxing men that Flynn no longer will be associated with the ex-champion. Before the title fight in Chicago reports of differences between Flynn and Dempsey persisted in spite of denial.

Nothing to It

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 14.—There is nothing to the reported peace pact between Jack Dempsey and his ex-manager, Jack Kearns, the ex-heavyweight champion told the Associated Press here.

"I know nothing about it and wouldn't consider it for a minute," he said, when the Associated Press dispatch quoting a copyrighted article in The New York Daily News, was read to him over the telephone. "The matter of the lawsuits is in the hands of my attorney and he is ready to go to trial the minute they are," Dempsey added.

"As for any peace proposals, I haven't heard of any coming from Kearns, and certainly none have been made by me, and I wouldn't consider them."

Deserts Courts for Fling at the Stage

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—William Tilden has temporarily deserted the oblong courts for another fling at the stage. An announcement, made yesterday at a local theatre, said that "Big Bill" would revive his New York stage play, "They All Want Something," for an indefinite run starting October 23.

WILLIAM TILDEN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—William Tilden has temporarily deserted the oblong courts for another fling at the stage. An announcement, made yesterday at a local theatre, said that "Big Bill" would revive his New York stage play, "They All Want Something," for an indefinite run starting October 23.

MADISON GARDEN FINE MONEYMAKER

Profits to End of August Amount to $565,000—Expect to Exceed $1,300,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Profits exceeding $1,300,000 are expected to be realized for 1927 by Madison Square Garden Corporation, George L. (Tex) Rickard, president and general manager, made known today.

For the first eight months to August 31, net profits, after interest and taxes were deducted, amounted to $565,000, Rickard said. That was equivalent to $1.74 per share earned on 324,860 shares of no par common stock outstanding.

For the full year profits are expected to equal $2 per share on the common stock. Dividends of $1 per share are now being paid more than 1,000 stockholders of the corporation. Rickard's contract with the corporation, signed in 1923, provides that for a period of twenty-one years the profits arising from all his activities in the amusement field within or without the Garden shall become the profits of the corporation.

MRS. WILSON WINS CLASS "B" TITLE

Defeats Mrs. A. V. Price, One Up in Finals—Miss Ruth McBride Takes Honors

Mrs. Charles E. Wilson won the class "B" championship of the Victoria Golf Club when she defeated Mrs. A. V. Price, one up, in the final played yesterday afternoon over eighteen holes. Miss Ruth McBride took the honors in the first flight by defeating Mrs. Squire, 3 and 1.

The battle between Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Price was a close and interesting affair and they were little to choose between the players. The match saw-sawed throughout and remained in doubt until the last hole was played.

Following the tournament, Mrs. A. C. Burdick presented the Burdick Cup to Miss Marion Wilson, class "A" champion, and the other prizes in this class, while Mrs. Patterson presented the Patterson Cup to Mrs. Wilson and the various prizes in class "B."

DAVE BANCROFT GIVEN RELEASE

Boston Club Manager to Go to Brooklyn Next Season — Play Declared to Be Below Standard

TRADE SAID TO INVOLVE $20,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Dave Bancroft, manager and shortstop of the Boston Braves for the past four seasons, will wear a Brooklyn uniform next season. His unconditional release was announced here today by Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston club, but there was some question as to the actual details of transferring his contract to Brooklyn. Fuchs declared Bancroft's release was granted at the latter's request, and that no money or players were involved in the transaction.

At the Brooklyn Club's offices, however, it was indicated that a cash consideration figured in the deal. Baseball men declared an unconfirmed report was current that the release cost the Robins about $20,000.

Observers attributed the poor showing of the Braves this season in finishing seventh as a factor in Bancroft's release, as well as the fact that the shortstop himself felt considerably below his usual high playing standard.

PARLOR SHOW TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Indications Point to a Large Entry List at Westhorne Hotel Building—Jack Meadows to Judge

Judging from the number of inquiries received by James Bryant, secretary of the Victoria Kennel Club, tonight's Parlor Show, which is being held in the Westhorne Hotel Building, Government Street, promises to eclipse any event of the kind ever held in the city. Entries will be taken from 7 p.m. on, and judging will commence at 8 o'clock. Jack Meadows, one of the leading Canadian canine fanciers, will be the officiating judge.

A massive silver trophy will go to the owner of the best dog in the show, while in addition to the regular cash awards, $250 will be given for the best pup over six months; $250 for the best pup over six months of age, and $25 for the best male English setter puppy dog.

TORONTO SWIMMERS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP AT WOMEN'S MEET

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—Toronto swimmers made a clean sweep of the ladies' Dominion swimming championships here tonight. Swimmers from the Queen City, Ottawa, and Montreal competed in the meet.

The Toronto squad won the 200-yard relay race, Dominion championship, in 2 minutes and 17.2 seconds. Grace Mackenzie, Canadian outdoor diving champion, added an indoor title to her laurels when she compiled a total of 102.35 points over a strong opposition with a finished performance.

Jean Kirkpatrick, another Toronto representative and former Dominion 200-yard breast stroke titleholder, accounted for the open event in this class.

Hilda Huestis, Toronto, won the 100-yard breast stroke Dominion championship in 1:28.

Disputes Over Players Put to Rest by Head-Gainer, Sparrow and Headley Go to Minneapolis

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—In connection with various disputes among minor league hockey clubs regarding title to services of players, President Frank Calder, of the National Hockey League, who acts as arbitrator in disputes between minor league clubs, today gave the following decisions:

Brydon, claimed by the American Association and the Stratford Club of the Canadian League, goes to Stratford.

Gainer, Sparrow and Headley, all with Calgary in the Prairie League last season, all go to Minneapolis, of the American Association. Quenell, last season with the Stratford, also goes to Minneapolis.

Decisions in the cases of Chouinard, Peters, Armstrong and Courte, the latter a Winnipeg amateur, are reserved.

BOMB INTERRUPTS DOG RACING MEET

Midst Thrown From Automobile Causes Consternation Among 5,000 Spectators

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 14.—Dog racing at the Parkway greyhound track several miles from Kansas City was briefly interrupted tonight when a bomb was thrown into the racing enclosure, causing consternation among 5,000 spectators. No one was injured.

The bomb was believed to have been thrown from a passing automobile. A highway skirts the edge of the track and the automobile and the bomb hurried on the back street.

The blast occurred immediately after the first race of the evening, rocked the grandstands and tore a hole twelve feet wide in the ground. Racing was resumed with a heavy crowd of spectators. Managers of the track said fifteen guards were on duty before the races started tonight. Bad feeling has been evident recently between hangers-on of the Parkway track and of another track nearby, where dog racing started several weeks before the Parkway track was opened, according to police.

MCGILL UNIVERSITY TENNIS WON BY JACK WRIGHT FOUR TIMES

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—For the fourth consecutive time Jack Wright, Canadian and intercollegiate tennis champion, won the McGill University singles title and the Dr. Martin Cup, emblematic of the college championship, when he defeated J. P. McInerney in the final today by the score of 6-4, 6-0, 6-1.

CARE OF ESKIMO IS TRANSFERRED

Natives of Canadian Arctic Now Under Commissioner of N.W.T.

An important change has been made in regard to the Eskimo inhabitants of Canada, namely, their transfer from the care of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, under whom they were placed in 1924, to that of the Commissioner of the Northwest Territories, Department of the Interior. The commissioner is responsible for the general management of affairs in the Canadian Arctic, where all our Eskimos live. Annual expeditions are sent out to the Eastern archipelago, and many officers are stationed in the North who can handle Eskimo matters in conjunction with their other duties. A number of these officers speak the Eskimo language, and are familiar with conditions of life and travel. The protection of the wild life of the Arctic with which the welfare of the Eskimo is inseparably bound up is a direct responsibility of the commissioner, and it is with the view of benefiting the natives that an investigation is being made of the possibility of introducing reindeer into Northern Canada. The transfer was made by Order-in-Council on August 31, and is already in effect.

Smith returned from the office one evening and eyed his wife gloomily.

"My dear," he said, "I have something important to tell you. As a matter of fact, a receiver has been appointed to take charge of my affairs."

"Oh, how lovely, darling!" cried his wife. "Do tell me when he is going to hold the first reception?"

BAFFIN ISLAND PEOPLE HEALTHY

Dr. L. D. Livingstone Tells of Fifteen Months' Practice in the Arctic

Baffin Island, although not as pleasant a place of residence for white men as more southern latitudes, is nevertheless capable of sustaining a vigorous and contented native population. This is an essential point in the report of Dr. L. D. Livingstone, who just returned from fifteen months' duty as medical officer in the Canadian Arctic Archipelago. Dr. Livingstone, who was a member of the staff of the annual expedition to the Canadian Arctic from 1922 to 1926, examining the natives at the different ports of call, remained in the North at the conclusion of the 1926 patrol and spent the Winter of 1926-27 and the Spring and Summer of this year in a detailed inspection of the natives in the interior whom it had not been possible to see on his previous annual visits.

During the early Winter of 1926-27, Dr. Livingstone made his base at Pangnirtung, on Cumberland Gulf, and one of his first duties was to deal with an epidemic of chickenpox. The post and the surrounding district were quarantined for six weeks and the outbreak was stamped out without loss of life. In the beginning of February, 1927, Dr. Livingstone began his tour of the interior, and in the two long trips undertaken, which covered a combined distance of nearly 2,000 miles, about 100 natives were examined and visited. The estimated population of these is placed at 1,000. On these trips Dr. Livingstone found the health of the natives good and a plentiful supply of seals and other wild life upon which the Eskimos depend for food and clothing.

REMARKABLE PATROL

The first of Dr. Livingstone's remarkable medical inspection patrols was begun on February 14 and lasted fifty-one days and was done in company with two officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and native drivers. The party crossed the upper end of Cumberland Gulf and followed the eastern coast line to Cape Haven and into Prosser Bay; then made their way overland to Lake Harbor, the site of the new post on Hudson Strait. From this point the party progressed westward along the coast for about 130 miles and then began the return journey. The travelers moved northward to Amadjuak Lake and following the southern shore for a distance, struck a new route, by way of an uncharted river, to Pangnirtung, reducing the time for the journey by several days. The post was reached on April 5, about 1,100 miles had been covered and seventeen native settlements visited.

On April 25 Dr. Livingstone, accompanied only by a native driver, began a patrol northward along the east coast of Baffin Island. It was concluded at Pond Inlet on June 5, and the distance covered is estimated at 1,028 miles. Heavy falls of snow retarded the progress of the patrol and at one time the Smoking long cigars with an eccentric character in each is the feat of a young athlete at Baden, Austria. When he believes that the explosion is about to take place he holds the stump between his teeth and lets the "big bang" proceed. The youth has schooled himself to keep his head perfectly still and avoid a recoil by stiffening the muscles of his neck. He says that if an ordinary man smoked an eccentric cigar, the recoil would almost blow his head off, but he has so trained his muscles that he will permit anyone to hold a sharp-pointed instrument close to the nape of his neck when the explosion takes place.

ORGANIZE FOR GYMNASIUM WORK

Cumberland Boys Starting Club—Will Start on Physical Training Course

CUMBERLAND, Oct. 14.—A number of young boys interested in gymnasium work met at the Anglican Hall last night and decided to organize a club with the express purpose of studying physical training. The boys are very fortunate in having two such fine instructors as Messrs. W. and H. Jackson, brothers, who had a great reputation in the British Army during the Great War. A special course of physical training, lasting about four weeks, will be undertaken first, fitting the boys for the more strenuous work of the gymnasium. Boxing, wrestling and judo will be undertaken as a side-line. A further meeting is being arranged for this week-end, when the boys will elect their officers and endeavor to organize on a sound and firm basis. Rev. E. O. Robertson is the sponsor of the movement.

Orchard-Robbing Bears Numerous Round Ucluelet

UCLUELET, Oct. 14.—Black bears, usually plentiful around Ucluelet, are very numerous this year. A number have been seen in and about the settlement and have created quite a disturbance in the orchards. One was shot from an apple tree in Mr. George Fraser's famous garden within fifty yards of his house after having been driven away several times previously, and several trees in orchards nearby have been destroyed. The scarcity of wild small fruits this Autumn is suggested as a probable reason for the boldness of the bears.

"CRIB" POPULAR IN CUMBERLAND CLUBS

District League Will Be Organized—Four Clubs Ready for Action

CUMBERLAND, Oct. 14.—Cribbage promises to be as popular this Winter as it was last, judging by the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting of the Cumberland Literary Association's Cribbage Club held last night. Officers elected were: President, Mr. William Henderson; vice-president, Mr. J. H. Robertson; captain, Mr. Sam Gough; vice-captain, Mr. W. Whyte; secretary-treasurer, Mr. T. Robertson.

The Cumberland Men's Club has been organized for two weeks and the Union Bay Club also organized a few nights ago. Word was also received from Bevan that their club was also organized, consequently a meeting has been arranged, when arrangements will be completed for the forming of a district league, functioning as last year, composed of two clubs from Cumberland, one from Bevan and one from Union Bay.

BAFFIN ISLAND MINERALS POOR

None of Deposits Found Appears to Have Any Commercial Importance

Dr. Ludlow J. Weeks, of the Geological Survey, Department of Mines, and an assistant, Mr. Maurice H. Haycock, of Wolfville, Nova Scotia, accompanied the 1926 Canadian Arctic expedition as far as Baffin Island, and returned on this year's patrol ship. After establishing headquarters at Pangnirtung in 1926, several trips were made around the head of Cumberland Gulf and a plane-table map of Pangnirtung Fjord was completed before the 1926-27 Winter set in.

During the Winter and the following Spring approximately 2,300 miles were covered by sled and dog team. By this means the party was able to map the northern part of Cumberland Gulf, and in the Spring, to investigate the geology and mineral possibilities of the region. Early in May the party moved to Netilling Fjord and after the break-up, in July, a start was made on the journey by water to Netilling Lake. Weather conditions were very adverse and many delays were encountered. The party succeeded, however, in carrying a traverse from Netilling Fjord through a chain of small lakes to Netilling Lake and along the south shore of the latter. On August 17 the party left for Pangnirtung, having been recalled to meet the patrol ship Beothic. Pangnirtung was reached without mishap on the night of the 21st, the Beothic having arrived earlier the same day.

The region examined is entirely underlain by a complex of ancient granites, recrystallized limestone and other sediments, cut by dykes and other masses of younger basic rocks. Several deposits of graphite are known and evidences were discovered of pyrite and copper sulphides; but none of the deposits yet known appears to be large or of any commercial importance.

An amusing story is going the rounds concerning a party of American visitors to the outside of the prime minister's official residence in Downing Street.

"His plain, unpretentious exterior obviously did not impress them, and they did not attempt to hide their disappointment."

"What a home for a prime minister!" one of them exclaimed.

"Yes," said another, "and look at that car, 'pointing to a small two-seater standing outside the door. 'Why in 1917 of New York second-hand store clerk would be ashamed to own a flivver like that.'"

At this moment a well-groomed man emerged from No. 10, entered the car, and drove off.

"That was that guy?" asked a third American of a nearby policeman.

"Mr. A. B. Houghton, the American ambassador," answered the policeman without the suspicion of a smile.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

CATS AND RATS ARE SACRIFICED

Fur of These Animals Used in Manufacture of Brushes for Writing

Chinese characters are written with a brush made of a tuft of hair fastened on a bamboo handle. The hair used for this purpose is obtained from a variety of animals including the skunk, the goat, the domestic cat, the rabbit, and the rat. Of the sixty odd brush makers in Poochow, about twenty are operating on a scale larger than the rest. The raw material is imported from other provinces and partly obtained locally. Skunk hair is yellowish brown in color, the rabbit, and the rat. The hair of this kind of animal known as "sable-hair" brushes are sold at high prices. Some of the skunk hair consumed by Poochow brush makers is produced in Tinchow, Fukien Province. The balance is imported from Shanghai, at about $40 for every hundred pieces of skunk skin. The hundred pieces yield enough hair to make 1,000 brushes. Goat hair is used for making brushes of the less expensive kind. Only the hair growing on the animal's legs and under the chin is used. It is imported from Shantung Province at prices varying from $3 to $6 per cat. The rabbit hair is imported from Chefoo at about $30 per hundred pieces of skin. The hair, being usually of pretty color, is used chiefly for the outer covering of the brush as a sort of decoration. The skin of the domestic cat is bought on the local market at about $70 for every hundred pieces. The rat hair is still and is used also for making high grade brushes. The rat hair is very soft, being used chiefly for making painters' brushes, which are produced in very limited number. The bamboo used for making the brush holder is produced at Yuki, in Fukien Interior. About half of each bamboo cane, which is sold on the Poochow market at about two cents. The brush is always inserted into a hollowed bamboo inner tube, made from a variety of bamboo produced at Mintsing, Fukien. The tubes for high-grade brushes are sometimes made of copper or brass.

PROCESS COMPLICATED
In the brush making trade, division of labor is well established, the process being more complicated than it appears to the unsophisticated. Probably in no country is greater attention paid to the making of the pen than in China. Formerly it was an instrument of which the success or failure of a candidate for literary degrees depended. The artisans engaged in this trade are divided into several groups, each specializing in one particular branch of the work. Roughly speaking, there is the sorter, who, after cleaning the hair

World-Famous Stories

DR. MANETTE'S MANUSCRIPT

By CHARLES DICKENS

(Among the best known names in English literature is that of Charles Dickens, 1812-1870). He is best known for his "Pickwick Papers" and such novels as "David Copperfield," "Oliver Twist," "Great Expectations," etc. The present story, complete in itself, forms part of the "Tale of Two Cities." It is supposed to be a manuscript written by one Dr. Manette, a prisoner in the Bastille, and written under great difficulties during an imprisonment of ten years, from 1787 to 1797.)

One cloudy moonlight night in the third week of December in the year 1787, I was walking on a retired part of the quay by the Seine when a carriage came along behind me driven very fast. It proved to be two men of imperious manner, who had called at my residence and had then followed me, demanding my services—as a physician—immediately. They gave me no particulars. I later discovered that they were twin brothers, and of the nobility. They were armed. I was not. I could do nothing but comply.

When we alighted, after something of a ride, we all three walked, by a damp soft footpath in a garden where a neglected fountain had overflowed, to the door of a house. One of the brothers, whom I shall call the elder, struck the servant who opened the door across the face. The younger brother did likewise. It was not my residence and I had seen the common people so treated.

I had heard cries proceeding from an upper chamber, and I was conducted to a patient in a high fever of the brain, lying on a bed. She was a woman of great beauty, not much past twenty. Her hair was auburn, her arms were bound to her sides with saffron and handkerchiefs, and these were all portions of a gentleman's dress.

I turned her gently over and looked into her face. Her eyes were dilated and wild, and she constantly uttered piercing shrieks, and repeated the words, "My husband, my wretched brother!" and then sobbed and shrieked and "Hush!" There was no variation in the order or the manner.

"How long," I asked, "has this been?"

"Since about this hour last night," answered the elder.

"She has a husband, a father and a brother?"

"I do not address her brother?"

"He answered with great contempt, 'No.'"

"She has some recent association with the number twelve?"

"With twelve o'clock."

A chest of medicines was provided and I administered something to soothe her. Then I learned that there was another patient—her brother, as I discovered. He was lying in a stable loft, dying from a sword wound. He lived long enough to tell me his terrible story.

These people had been tenants of these nobles, one of them a marquis. They were, as all such tenants were, oppressed and robbed and treated worse than animals more often than men. The nobles had power over their very lives and, of course, over the chastity of their wives and daughters. The wife's sister—I never learned their names—had been married but a few weeks when the marquis saw her, admired her, wanted her, and she was forced to leave her husband and go to live with him.

The brother determined vengeance. He secured a sword, tracked the marquis to his house, which had been temporarily furnished, and attacked him. It was the boy's pride that he had made the noble draw in self-defence. The marquis had given the boy a mortal wound, and then, in contempt for a weapon soiled with such common blood, had broken the sword and tossed it
